

Bankruptcy and Creditors' Rights

Chambliss' Bankruptcy Group handles business and consumer bankruptcy, including commercial litigation and workout issues, primarily for creditors, both secured and unsecured, and creditors' committees. Lawyers counsel business and banking clients on avoiding bankruptcy-related issues before problems arise.

Many members of the Group are litigators, having presented numerous cases before state, federal district, bankruptcy and appellate courts in Tennessee, Georgia and the Southeast.

Additionally, Chambliss lawyers advise and litigate for clients on issues related to bankruptcy and commercial collection work, including issues related to tax and Federal Employment Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA). Bankruptcy-related work often includes involvement in the purchase or sale of assets or businesses and, in conjunction with a number of lawyers in the firm's Business Section, the Bankruptcy Group assists clients in each of these matters.
