“She has this rare ability to balance grace and grit — she leads with kindness and respect but isn’t afraid of tough conversations when they are necessary. Ann expects a lot from her team, but never more than she expects from herself, and that’s the kind of leadership I admire most ... Mentorship, to me, is a transformative partnership that goes far beyond just career advice. It is about having a trusted guide who not only shares wisdom but also inspires you to see every Challenge as stepping stone for growth.”
