

Brad Davis Explores Strategies for Approaching AI on the Jed and JR Morning Radio Show

Brad Davis recently joined Jed Mescon and Jim “JR” Reynolds on Tuesday, May 27, 2025, on the Jed & JR Mornings radio show. On the podcast, he discussed artificial intelligence (AI) and provided tips on how to approach this growing technology. Additionally, he highlighted common pitfalls to avoid when working with AI and provided solutions such as double-checking sources and being cautious with confidential information. Brad also shared insights into the future of AI, emphasizing the importance of AI literacy and learning how to use it effectively and ethically to ultimately make life more efficient.

For the full episode, listen to the on-demand Jed & JR Mornings podcast with Brad.

Jed & JR Mornings is hosted by Jed Mescon and Jim “JR” Reynolds weekdays from 6 to 10 a.m. on WGOW 102.3FM.

Brad Davis is a shareholder in Chambliss’ labor and employment section, and counsels manufacturers and other businesses on a range of litigation, regulatory, and transactional matters. From advising on arbitration agreements to representing clients in court, he works with companies at all stages — from well-known national brands to emerging startups — across industries such as equipment and food manufacturing, financial technology, telecommunications, transportation, and banking. For more information on Brad’s experience and practice, visit his bio.