

Cathy Dorvil and Rachel Ragghianti Discuss Payment Protection Program Audits on Let's Talk Money Radio Show

Cathy Dorvil and Rachel Ragghianti, CPA joined Jayme O'Donnell and Jim Place of Evergreen Advisors on the November 16, 2021, Let's Talk Money radio show. In the podcast they discussed Payment Protection Program (PPP) reporting requirements and potential government audits for those who received funding.

For the full episode, listen to the on-demand Let's Talk Money podcast with Cathy and Rachel.

Let's Talk Money is hosted by Evergreen Advisors from 12 to 1 p.m. on WGOW 102.3FM.

Cathy chairs the audit counsel group and recruiting committee at Chambliss and focuses her practice in commercial litigation and health care. She represents clients across the U.S., including educational institutions, municipalities, nonprofits, medical providers, and home health and community-based care organizations. She uses her previous experience in occupational therapy and health care program management to guide the strategies and solutions she tailors for each client, whether it's navigating a federal audit or resolving a contract dispute. Rachel is the manager of Chambliss' tax department and has over a decade of accounting experience. She regularly assists clients with tax planning, preparation, compliance, and reporting. Her tax and audit knowledge span multiple industries, allowing her to seamlessly work with a diverse client base. For more information on their experience, visit Cathy and Rachel's bios.