

Chemical

Local and regional chemical companies trust Chambliss to deliver practical, forward-thinking solutions related to their day-to-day operations, as well as strategic planning. With over 130 years of experience, clients trust Chambliss attorneys to understand compliance factors and minimize high-risk situations.

We work closely with chemical manufacturers, suppliers, and distributors on a range of legal matters of legal matters, including issues related to business operations, personnel, regulatory compliance, development projects, and transactions. Clients face complex regulations and operational challenges, and we do the work necessary to understand their business and develop solutions to address their issues. We have advised for many years on matters related to industrial coatings, polymer binders, silicone resins, packaging adhesives, polysilicon, and personal care and household products. Our clients' chemical products impact numerous areas, including solar and energy transmission, personal care and home use, food packaging, paints, concrete, and fire protection.

We have a multidisciplinary team with experience in compliance and regulatory issues, supply and vendor contracts, labor and employment, workplace safety and health, mergers and acquisitions, construction, real estate, intellectual property, and litigation. Some of the recent chemical projects we've worked on include significant supply and vendor contracts, cross-border operations, domestic and international joint ventures, and business structure and governance. We stay on top of industry regulations, challenges, and opportunities. Our attorneys will always work to minimize risk and obtain results that allow our clients to continue making significant innovative advances. Our primary goal continues to be understanding our clients' issues, and providing counsel that allows them to achieve their business goals.
