

Laura McKinney Published in TBA Connect Business Law Newsletter

Laura McKinney recently authored an article for the Tennessee Bar Association \(TBA\)'s Connect Business Law Newsletter. In "The Corporate Transparency Act is Here: What You Need to Know Now." Laura shares insight on the rollout of the Corporate Transparency Act (CTA), its reporting requirements, legal obstacles surrounding the CTA's constitutionality, and common challenges law firms face in ensuring client awareness and assisting clients with the filing process.

To read the full article, click here.

With over a decade of experience in multiple jurisdictions, Laura helps navigate the diverse business and legal obstacles that local, national, and global companies encounter. She frequently counsels clients in several industries, such as manufacturing, energy, food and beverage, logistics, chemical, and mining, on various matters, including asset and stock purchase transactions, preparation and negotiation of commercial contracts, entity formation, corporate governance, cross-border distribution, and regulatory issues. For information on her practice and experience, visit Laura's bio.