I enjoy working with our talented support team to provide better results in training, technology, and day-to-day administrative support.

Cindy Lea has devoted her career to providing the best technology and training support services for the firm and its employees. She leads the Training and Technology team which serves as a multifunctional resource for administrative support, training, and technical troubleshooting. Her team works closely with the firm's executive director and IT manager during design, implementation, and maintenance of firm core technologies, providing technical training, skills enhancement opportunities, and firm-wide support. For over four decades, she has used her keen problem-solving skills to become a go-to resource for project solutions. To maximize the firm's investments in technology, she is proactive in enriching her team's skills and developing their capabilities, as well as the skills and knowledge of all personnel.
