With IT constantly changing, we never get comfortable. We educate ourselves and provide top of the line products and service to benefit the firm and its clients.

Geoff Jones leads the firm's information technology initiatives and manages a top-notch team of technicians and support specialists. From monitoring software and hardware efficiencies to keeping data secure, Geoff is intentional in all he does to ensure the Chambliss team is equipped to provide the best possible legal services. Nearly a decade into his technical career, Geoff can troubleshoot just about any issue or else expeditiously find a resource to help. Some of his most recent projects have been upgrading hardware for all personnel, implementing a new document management system, and improving remote accessibility to better serve clients.

Geoff and his team regularly communicate with the executive director, management team, and shareholders to keep them informed and put best practices in place. All agree that data security is the number one priority. Geoff regularly attends educational and networking events for the IT community so he can stay up-to-date on the latest trends, challenges, and opportunities.
