There is no greater reward than helping others during a very difficult and stressful time in their life. My organizational skills enable me to be efficient and responsive to my client's needs to ensure I go above and beyond their expectations.

Jennifer Ball has 15 years of experience in the legal industry with a focus in family law. As a paralegal in the litigation section at Chambliss, she provides support to attorneys who counsel clients in various areas of law. Jennifer contributes to government and municipal matters, insurance defense, divorce and custody disputes, and several other litigation areas. Jennifer also regularly prepares pleadings, correspondence, provides document review and production, and effectively communicates with clients.

She began her legal career working for the Tennessee Department of Human Services in the Child Support division where she gained experience with family law matters and the legal system. Jennifer handled administrative child support modifications, assisted the juvenile court, helped with alternative dispute resolutions, and supported several attorneys. This experience allowed Jennifer to learn the ins and outs of the court system and gave her substantial knowledge on how to handle tough situations and have empathy for her clients.
