Known for my robust advocacy and forward-thinking approach to problem-solving, my dedication lies in empowering clients. With a wealth of experience in navigating varied medical and life-related obstacles, I adhere to a client-centric philosophy, fostering resilience and facilitating transformation.

With over two decades of experience, Dub Ellis is a Tennessee Licensed Master Social Worker who brings a versatile skill set to our team, excelling in providing compassionate support, insurance navigation, and strategic placements. His work focuses on uplifting individuals, addressing immediate needs, and strategically planning for future goals. Dub frequently works with clients in various industries, including medical, legal, and education, making a meaningful impact in each sector he serves. Eager to integrate his wealth of experience into Chambliss’ legal team, Dub is dedicated to further elevating the firm’s commitment to providing comprehensive client service and anticipating evolving needs. Beyond emotional support and counseling, he has a background in complex medical systems and collaborating with interdisciplinary teams, assuming diverse roles in hospice settings.

Dub is known for his careful, respectful approach and sets himself apart as a trustworthy advocate by demonstrating a deep understanding of the emotional and psychological needs that impact the lives of individuals and their families. He is passionate about his clients’ interests and values and contributes to optimizing their well-being. In addition to his experience, Dub’s desire to meet the needs of the Chattanooga community and assist clients through health and life challenges highlights his personalized and transformative philosophy of client service.
