

Medical Malpractice

Chambliss represents a wide variety of medical care providers in malpractice inquiries and lawsuits. To provide the best defense possible, our team is proactive in preparing for trial from the beginning of a case and maintains consistent communication with clients. We represent facilities and care organizations including assisted living communities, hospitals, long-term care facilities, hospices, mental health providers, and outpatient surgery centers. We also represent professionals including physicians of all specialties, dentists, nurses, and physical therapists. From dispute to trial, or through alternative dispute resolution, we serve as trusted advisors and do all we can to minimize stress and find the best solutions possible.

We help with all malpractice matters, as well as licensing and credentialing issues. Our team also has niche experience in handling regulatory compliance issues, civil litigation, and insurance coverage and claims.
