

Professional Liability Defense

Chambliss represents a variety of professionals in tort and commercial litigation matters related to financial services, accounting, health care, and other professions. We also advise other lawyers and law firms facing legal malpractice claims involving tax questions, pension/retirement fund issues, statutes of limitation, or sale of business suits.

We have developed niche service areas for our clients, which have become extremely valuable to professional liabilities cases. For example, we regularly counsel physicians and other practitioners on licensing and credentialing issues. We have substantial experience with insurance coverage claims, specific matters related to physicians of all specialties, and helping professionals through various licensing board issues. With every case, we are personable in our approach and collaborate closely with our clients to fully understand their business landscape, goals, and budget. Our number one priority is exercising our clients' legal rights, making a compelling story in their favor, and doing all we can protect their interests.
