

Stephany Pedigo Joins Chambliss' Estate Planning Team Experiencing Record Growth

Chambliss, Bahner & Stophel, P.C. is pleased to announce Stephany Pedigo, of counsel attorney, has joined the firm's estate planning section, which continues to expand its team to meet the needs of its growing Southeast client base.

Stephany is licensed in both Tennessee and Georgia and has a broad range of experience that allows her to properly understand and assist clients from diverse backgrounds. With more than two decades of experience, Stephany provides estate and trust-based solutions to her clients. Focusing on asset preservation, she drafts wills, powers of attorney, trusts, and incapacity documents, and advises clients throughout probate and trust administration. Stephany also guides clients through the uncertain and evolving tax climate, effectively utilizing tax credits and providing solutions for minimizing estate taxes. In addition, she represents clients in litigation, mediations, adoption matters, juvenile proceedings, judicial commitment hearings, and conservatorship cases.

"Stephany brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to our talented team," said Greg Willett, estate and tax section chair at Chambliss. "She is joining us at an exciting time of growth, and I am confident she will positively impact our holistic client services and capabilities."

Stephany is a member of the Tennessee Bar Association and Chattanooga Bar Association. She graduated cum laude from the University of Tennessee and magna cum laude in the top 2% from Samford University's Cumberland School of Law.

Read the Chattanooga article, "Stephany Pedigo Joins Chambliss' Estate Planning Team."

Read the Chattanooga Times Free Press article, "Chambliss Law Firm Adds Pedigo for Estate Planning."

Read the Hamilton County Herald article, "Pedigo Joins Chambliss' Estate Planning Team."

Read the EDGE Magazine article, "Who's on the move in the Chattanooga-area business community?"