

Stephen Adams and Courtney Keehan to Present at 2022 ACC Annual Meeting in Las Vegas

Stephen Adams and Courtney Keehan will co-present at the 2022 Association of Corporate Counsel \(ACC\) Annual Meeting in Las Vegas on October 24, 2022. Their presentation, "Navigating Practical and Legal Considerations of NFTs and Crypto Transactions," will cover the legality of NFTs and cryptocurrency and will provide insight on managing a cryptocurrency wallet, security laws and tax implications of cryptocurrency transactions, and intellectual property rights associated with NFTs, cyber security concerns, and other state and federal regulatory issues.

The ACC 2022 Annual Meeting will be held at Resorts World Las Vegas from October 23-26, 2022, and will include several presenters, networking opportunities, workshops, and CLE credit.

Registrants will have the option to participate virtually, which includes access to global content, 90-day post-meeting access to on-demand session recordings, and real-time interviews of speakers and attendees.

For more information or to register, visit the 2022 ACC Annual Meeting page.

Stephen Adams is a shareholder and chair of the firm's intellectual property section. He has represented individuals from entrepreneurs, inventors, and start-ups to small and large corporations, governmental entities, and universities in a variety of industries, including medical, strength and conditioning, entertainment, manufacturing, and renewable energy. For more information on his practice and experience, visit Stephen's bio.

Courtney Keehan is an associate at Chambliss and advises on business matters related to mergers, acquisitions, environment compliance, health care, and general business operations. She also helps with security and privacy issues, including the preparation of privacy statements, policies, and terms of use for websites and mobile applications. For more information on her practice and experience, visit Courtney's bio.