

Willa Kalaidjian and Cal Marshall Discuss Cybersecurity Insights on Let's Talk Money Radio Show

Willa Kalaidjian and Cal Marshall joined Jim Place and Jayme O'Donnell of Evergreen Advisors on the November 11, 2020, Let's Talk Money radio show. In the podcast, they discussed cybersecurity, cyber threats, and risk that is often associated, especially in this time of increased remote working and online transactions. Willa and Cal covered how cyber threats can affect anyone, with targets on personal information to large businesses. They also gave basic tips on what businesses can do to protect their information, including making sure employees are informed on how to spot possible phishing attacks and other malicious attempts. While businesses can invest in the best technologies to prevent a breach, it's just as important to educate employees on what not to fall for.

For important cybersecurity insights, listen to the on-demand Let's Talk Money podcast with Willa and Cal.

Let's Talk Money is hosted by Evergreen Advisors weekdays from noon until 1:00 p.m. on WGOW 102.3FM.

Willa Kalaidjian is a shareholder and chair of the Corporate/Mergers and Acquisitions group, Cybersecurity group, and Chambliss Startup Group. She often supports multi-national organizations, emerging companies, and small businesses with general corporate matters, including issues related to agreements, privacy, cybersecurity, and risk management. She also advises on commercial transactions, environmental issues, and contractual matters. Cal Marshall is a shareholder in the Business, Cybersecurity, and Health Care groups. He is a go-to advisor for clients seeking counsel on regulatory, compliance, cybersecurity, and data privacy matters. Clients look to Cal for guidance regarding some of the most important and cutting-edge issues they face, including federal and state privacy and security laws, and data breach response. For details on their individual practices and experience, please visit Willa and Cal's bios.